Grands Take Top Money, Corson Trophy in 3-day Hockey Tourney

Coleman Grands proved their worth during the past week by taking top money of $250 and Corson Silver Cup in the three-day hockey tournament held in the Coleman arena last week-end. Second place team was the Drumheller Miners, who won the $200 cash prize. The silver cup was presented by Fred Bales of Sicks Lethbridge Brewery, following the final Sunday afternoon game which was played before an arena that was packed to capacity.

First game got underway Friday evening when the Lethbridge Native Sons were taken by Coleman's Grands by a score of 7-1. Referees were Tony Veljprava of Blairmore, and Sam Calles of Kimberley.

In round number two, which got underway at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Drumheller Miners edged a two-goal victory over Cranbrook, with a final score of 6-4. Three penalties were doled out to the Miners and two to Cranbrook by referees Sam Calles and George Jenkins of Coleman.

Third game got underway at 4 p.m. when Coleman Grands won their second game of the tourney by downing the Trail Oilers to the tune of 6-4. Referees Calles and Veljprava had an easy time with only one penalty for Coleman and four for the visitors.

Fourth game of the tournament got underway at 8 p.m. Saturday night when the Drumheller Miners laced the Hanna Hornets 6-3 in a fast, well enjoyed game. Penalties matched the scores for both teams.

Calles and Jenkins refereed the matches.

With the final game being played between Drumheller Miners and the Coleman Grands Sunday afternoon before about 1200 fans, Coleman took the Miners with a final score of 9-1, to take first place in the tournament.

Refereeing the final game were George Jenkins and Tony Veljprava. Coleman chalked up one penalty and the visitors got five.

The affair was officially opened Friday night when Mayor Frank Abousaffy threw the first puck.

During the three-day tourney the Crown Nest Pass Band and the RCMP Band provided music before games and between periods.

Coleman Airman In The North

Sgt. Thomas Goldring, son of Mr. T. Goldring of Nanaimo, B.C. and formerly of Coleman, has been promoted to Squadron Leader.

He was the former chief administrative officer at RCAF station Comox, and was transferred recently to Great Whale River, a RCAF radar site on the mid-Canada Line. Tom, who is still well remembered by many here, received his education in Coleman, and says he still likes to remember Coleman as his old home town.

The following is an interesting letter received by his sister here, Mrs. Edna Campbell, relating some of his experiences in the north:

RCAF Station,
Great Whale River,
Box 6121, Montreal, P.Q.
Dear Edna, Bob and Children:

Today is a crisp, clear, cold Arctic morning. I have just returned from a walk to the Eskimo mission church where I watched the sun rise (very late here) 9:15 a.m. It is the first time in many weeks that the sun has been visible. There have been terrific storms and although only four feet of snow has fallen, the drifts are 20 feet in places, strong winds blow almost constantly off Hudson's Bay. Generally the weather is much like the Pass insofar as temperature.

This has been an eventful four months which I will long remember. In August Nan and the girls were settled at Queen Margaret school in Duncan. Nan teaches there. I arrived here on August 10th as commanding officer, just in time for the re-supply operation. I have one large main station and 11 small ones from Hudson's Bay almost to Labrador. Supplies are brought by ocean vessels from Montreal, but anchor two miles off-shore because of the shallow water. We have about 20 tugs, landing craft and barges which we use to unload about a million gallons of fuel oil and several hundred tons of food and equipment. It is rather a tricky job in rough seas.

Several plane loads of stevedores are flown in from Montreal for the operation. This season we lost one man in the sea and to date have not found him. We managed to get all the supplies ashore before the ships were forced to back out of Hudson's Bay before it froze. It is now frozen as far as one can

Red Cross Notes

The Coleman branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society sent away the following articles on Wednesday, March 9.

Five girls' night gowns, five pair of girls' panties, five girls' blouses, five girls' skirts, five girls' slippers, eight quilts and 20 diapers.

Our thanks are extended to Mr. A. MacQuarrie for delivering the shipment.

see and by March will have 10 feet of ice.

I have three large helicopters here and in summer Canoe aircraft. During October I spent one night at Deception Bay on Hudson's Straits and also visited Belcher Islands.

I am impressed with the fishing, the sandy and rocky bleakness of the country, the mechanical ability of the Eskimos and the ability of the white people to consume vast quantities of beer. We have six thousand cases on hand.

The fishing is beyond description. It is the type that larks talk about, but the larks are true. The limiting factor is how soon one's arm or back gets tired and how many fish you can carry. They vary from one to five pounds and are speckled trout, but larger lake trout, pike and char are caught.

The station is at the mouth of the Great Whale River on Hudson's Bay, and has beautiful sandy beaches on two sides, but the water has ice in it until August. Along the river is a native village of five hundred Eskimos and two hundred Indians. There are about two hundred white people here. Living conditions are excellent, except, of course, family life is missing.

I have a four wheel drive station wagon for a staff car, small boats with motors and have the use of the helicopters, hence I can move about a bit.

An airline service provides two planes per week, weather permitting. Some weeks none arrived and last flight is three days late. Occasional RCAF aircraft come through so that we have adequate contact with the outside. There is no police or magistrate here so I find I am usually the authority referred to in this area.

We have had our share of excitement. In September I was forced to land on the shores of James Bay because of engine trouble and lived on blueberries for a day. I saw an Eskimo shoot four polar bears; got rather chilly last week when the helicopter developed engine trouble after landing in an isolated valley in sub-zero temperatures, and I just finished a search for five lost Eskimos who were three days overdue but were found enjoying their seal hunt.

These have been a long four months and rather lonely in a way, but I do not have enough time to do all the things I would like to do and find I am up late very often because the whole sector works around the clock.

In December we will give a big party for the Eskimos and expect numerous reporters. In January I shall visit Nan in Duncan for two weeks.

To all of you, all the very best.

West Canadian Collieries Get Order For 100,000 Long Tons

William Bird, general manager of West Canadian Collieries at Blairmore, in a statement to Crows Nest Pass Bureau announced Friday afternoon that the West Canadian Collieries Limited are now advised by their agents in Japan that they have a minimum confirmed order for Greenhill coking coal of 100,000 long tons, with probable additional orders forthcoming for 1960.

Their agents are hopeful of placing a much larger order for 1961 with one of the largest Japanese steel mills, who thus far have not purchased any Canadian coal. Mr. Bird also stated that the mines require the utmost co-operation of all concerned in order to make the coal competitive on the world market.

The West Canadian Greenhill mine at Blairmore, which was left to fill with water after tracks and other mining equipment was removed, has now been completely de-watered after having carried on pumping operations for the past several months.

Tracks in the mine are being laid in the pumped-out sections and this job is approximately 50 per cent completed, and it is anticipated the job will be done within a few weeks.

The mine will be working full capacity by Easter and the company will produce an average of 1200 to 1400 tons of coking coal per day.

There are approximately 50 men working now and the company plan to employ some 250 men in the entire operation. Preparations are being made to start work and locomotives, hoists and much other mining equipment will have to be brought into the mine and set up before full production is accomplished. The Lamox Cleaning plant, the Parry Dryers and the entire tipple (coal cleaning plant) has been worked over during the past few weeks and is now in working order ready for production to start.

The coking coal to be supplied to the Japanese market will be strictly underground number one seam coal. Hiring of men will be done by the West Canadian Collieries.

World Day Of Prayer Is Observed

The Blairmore C.G.I.T. group joined with the local C.G.I.T. in a World Day of Prayer service at the United Church, Friday, March 4th.

The story, based on the theme, Laborers Together with God, was given by Naomi Kimota.

Soloists were Darlene Jenkins and Jeanette Priesen. Pianist for the evening was Westlyn Dunford.

Others assisting in the service were Annie Mae Taggart, Donna Nelson, Rhea Chodky, Beverly Jumarichuk. A spaghetti dinner was served to the girls following the meeting and community singing enjoyed.

Local leaders are Mrs. Mel Dunford and Miss Carrie Horn.

On Monday, March 7, the C.G.I.T. group provided entertainment for the Old Age Pensioners' Society. Their program included square dancing, tap dancing and singing.

Monthly Meeting of A.T.A.

The Evaluation of School Procedures was the topic featured at the regular monthly meeting of the Coleman Sub-Local of the Alberta Teachers Association, held Feb. 29th.

Mrs. Allen gave a talk on Classroom Environment, giving some very interesting ideas on the use of pictures, bulletin boards, tack boards, audio-visual aids, tape-recorder and the value of rhythm bands.

Mrs. Coover discussed health, emphasizing good every-day health habits and posture, temperature and ventilation. She explained the use of vision and hearing checks and of the light meter.

Mrs. Bouthillier's subject was Guidance, stressing particularly methods of helping students who have problems.

Mrs. Bond spoke of the Teacher's Attitude to Pupils, mentioning manner with pupils, developing pupil's creative ability, and co-operation with others on the staff. She concluded with an eloquent plea for more teaching of art in Canada.

An animated discussion followed each talk, giving ample evidence of how ably the speakers had stimulated interest in the selected topics.

Earlier in the year, Mrs. Montabetti gave a very informative report on the legal liabilities of the teachers with regard to students, classrooms, playgrounds and the procedure to follow in case of accident.

Later meetings will discuss Language and Spelling. Mrs. Montabetti and Mrs. Ondrus, of the Education Committee, have planned this series for the helpful exchange of professional ideas.

Lions Present Curling Club With Cheque For $1,050.00

The Coleman Lions Club completed another worthy community project Sunday evening when the Lions presented the Coleman Curling Club with a cheque for the grand sum of $1,050.16 for the purchase of 32 matched curling rocks for the Coleman artificial ice curling arena.

The presentation was made by Lion President Ted Kryczka to Curling Club president Chalk Roughed. For this special occasion a large plywood cheque was made and will be varnished and hung in the Arena. In accepting the sizeable cheque President Roughed commended the active Lions Club for their many activities and assistance given to many Coleman affairs. He expressed the thanks of the Curling Club to the Lions for having undertaken the project of supplying matched rocks to the arena.

The presentation came as the result of the bingo night sponsored by the Lions February 24th at the Elks Hall in Coleman when 419 persons turned out to participate in the Clubs final bingo to raise funds for the purchase of curling rocks for the Curling Club. Due to the good attendance a further sum of $197.86 was realized to help swell the rock fund to a grand total of $1,050.16 more than sufficient to purchase 32 matched rocks. Due to the size of the crowd at the bingo most prizes were split among the many winners. The grand total that was donated to the Curling Club had started with a piggy bank amount of $9.00 with this amount being boosted to its final total by the Lions sponsoring eight bingos.

The festival committee have made arrangements to have well-known Robert Strangeland of the University of Alberta, adjudicate the affair.

He is an accomplished pianist and is a music examiner with the Western Board of Music.

Mrs. Strangeland is also well-known in music circles, being a concert pianist. Mr. Strangeland is also well versed in vocal music.

The Lions Club are sponsoring the annual Festival and are fortunate to have been able to secure his services.

Music Concert Real Success

The Coleman high school auditorium was packed to capacity Friday night when an extremely well enjoyed high calibre concert was presented by the talented students of Mrs. Madeline Pinkney and Mrs. T. J. Costigan, LRSM, HECM, of Blairmore.

Featured at the cultural affair was the Crows Nest Pass String Orchestra and Crows Nest Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Roy Upton of Coleman.

Also presenting several selections were the St. Paul's United Church Choir, directed by Mrs. G. Dunford.

Variety in the concert was provided by Alan Rae, well known Blairmore trumpeter, and also by the Amundsen family quartette of Natal, B. C. Vocal solos were rendered by Eric Price of Blairmore and Constance Marconi of Coleman.

Violin solos were presented by Peter Costigan of Blairmore, Eusebio Raymond of Coleman, James Montabetti of Coleman, and Harold Kane of Hillcrest.

Accompanists for the affair, besides Mrs. Costigan and Mrs. Pinkney, were Jerry Lonsbury and Darlene Korman of Coleman.

The concert was presented in two parts and was directed by master of ceremonies Horace Allen, of the Coleman Lions Club, who sponsored the much appreciated affair.

Dog By-law To Be Enforced

Police action towards dogs running loose in town is to be taken immediately by Coleman police as the result of complaints made to the town council by the Coleman School Board. The complaint comes as the result of a Coleman child being attacked and bitten by a dog.

Chief of Police Corson has announced that on council's instructions he will enforce the dog by-law which prohibits dogs running unattended in town.

Dogs running at large without license will be destroyed and those running at large bearing a license tag will be picked up and the owner notified.

Infraction of the by-law can result in the dog being destroyed, whether licensed or not, and the owner or harbours of a dog is liable to a fine up to $100.00 and costs.

The by-law also applies to persons who live out of town limits, and whose dogs are allowed to enter and roam about town, thereby creating a nuisance.

Chief Corson has announced the by-law will be enforced and that prosecutions will be made if dogs are found. A pound-keeper has been appointed. It is felt that prosecutions will prove more effective than destroying the animals.

OF MANY THINGS (by Ambrose Hills)

Are Things So Bad?

A woman wrote to Victor Murray of the Winnipeg Tribune the other day with a comment I think worth repeating.

"I was sounding off," she wrote, "with a long face over some misdemeanor on the part of my small son. In the midst of my tirade he pointed out the window and said: 'Look, mummy, see how nice the stars look!'"

She went on to suggest that there ought to be more gaiety in life, particularly family life.

I was most impressed by her letter. I turned each page of the newspaper that day looking for the bright and amusing and gay and heart-warming things — and there were many. A Calgary millionaire wrist-wrestled brawny Peter Casson — with $30,000 at stake, to be donated to World Refugee Year. Winnipeg started a $10 million slum-clearance program. The Kitchener community was worrying because they'd have to go without a dog-catcher because "we can't find a man mean enough to take the job." A Russian writer paid tribute to the sportsmanship shown by Americans at the Winter Olympics in Squaw Valley. A survey of hunters showed that the vast majority of them wanted the law that calls for confiscation of equipment for violation of game laws kept on the book.

The world is by no means perfect. If you want to be a gloomy gus you can find plenty of cause to complain; but taken all-in-all, are things really so bad?

I know a man — a rather solid business man — who makes a point of collecting quick little jokes. When he calls you on the phone he starts the conversation with one of his gems. It brightens the day and I think it probably makes it easier for him to wangle donations for his favorite charity too.

Family fun, of course, is the richest of all blessings. We have a number of family jokes at our home, and we never tire of them. One of them is a really ancient one I inherited from my Dad, and it seems to me to improve with age. When one of the kids comes late to the table, I can be counted on to say, while the rest of the family groans, that "We're waiting for you, as fast as we can!"

Are you having any fun?

Speech On Cool Resolution

E. S. Watkins — P.C.

Calgary - Glenmore March 1st, 1960

I should like to support the intention behind this Resolution although I am not sure that it is framed in the most appropriate way. Everybody in Alberta is concerned to find larger markets for the fantastic amount of coal which this Province has, and obviously we should like to see that coal used in Canada by Canadian consumers.

On the other hand we must face the fact that one of the causes that keeps the Alberta coal out of Eastern markets is the cost of its haulage to the lakehead and transportation on to Ontario and Quebec. It is a constant, natural complaint of the farmers in the West that the cost of manufacturers coming from the East is high. Suppose we had a protected market for Canadian coal. First, would Alberta be able to compete in the Ontario market with coal coming from Nova Scotia, which has a shorter haul? Secondly, suppose the Canadian manufacturer was required to pay more for his coal just because it was Canadian, would we be prepared to accept the higher price which he would inevitably have to charge on that count? Those are very real problems, and they are not altogether met by the Motion now before the Assembly.

But there is another side to this. The Prairie farmer has fought, and is fighting, for the maintenance of the Crownrest Pass rates for the transportation of wheat to the West coast. The Crownrest Pass rates were established by agreement, and have been conformed by statute, and everyone in Alberta will fight for the maintenance of this benefit to the farmer. But has a similar battle ever been waged for the coal miner in respect of freight rates for traffic going East? I was disappointed that the brief presented by the Government to the Royal Commission of Transportation when it was recently in this City did not put greater emphasis on this problem during the hearings here. The transportation organizations are bound to say that the cost of freight carrying must have some relation to the distance the load is taken. The interests of all producers in Alberta is that distance itself should not make that much difference to the cost of distributing goods and raw materials all over the country. There must be a compromise somewhere, but if we do not argue our case strongly enough, we are not going to get the consideration we should have when the final decisions are made.

One can say the same thing over trade with Japan, a country which, as we all know, is an actual buyer of Alberta coal. Japan will buy coal from Canada if she can sell her own manufactured products to Canada. Again, it is in the interests of the Canadian manufacturer to keep out of Japanese products, if they are too competitive with his, but when it comes to imports of manufactured products into this country—whether they come from Japan or the United States—we in Alberta are entitled to urge that we should give most consideration to that country which buys most from us.

I am not saying that Alberta can, or should, attempt to dictate the economic policy of Canada as a whole, but we know perfectly well that there are strong pressures in the East to limit Japanese competition, even though that may cut down the amount of coal and wheat that Japan can buy from us. We have to meet that kind of lobby, and the stronger our voice — and the more frequently it is raised — the better our position will be.

I would urge the Government that it should not cease in its representations to the Federal Government on these important matters of international trade. Perhaps it is wrong to say that "he who shouts loudest gets most," but it is certainly true that the man who stays silent in his kind of contest is apt to be left out of account.

E. S. Watkins.

S. F. Patterson Remanded To Higher Court

Samuel Fraser Patterson, 66-year-old retired Blairmore miner, appeared before Magistrate P. S. After hearing evidence of 15 witnesses, Magistrate Radford remanded the case to the Court of Criminal Jurisdiction in Fort Macleod. Bail was re-set at $5,000 and was put up by Marx Grischuk of Hillcrest and Lucien Bourdier of Cowley.

Representing Mr. Patterson was Max Moscovitch of Lethbridge, while D. V. Hartigan of Lethbridge was Crown prosecutor.

Other special guests will include Mr. Harry Holloway, provincial executive commissioner, from Edmonton; Mr. Tom Pratt, Lethbridge; Mr. T. W. Pierce, Waterton; Mr. A. Williams, Lethbridge, and Mr. E. Allen, Barons.

It is expected this year's conference will exceed those of former years with a wide cross-section of adult leaders from all across Southern Alberta.

No Injuries In Train-Truck Accident Near Michel, B. C.

Crows Nest — A train-truck accident on a level crossing some three miles east of Michel, B. C. on the number three highway occurred at about 9:20 a.m. Thursday morning and all concerned escaped without serious injury.

Extensive damage to the diesel engine resulted as well as to the second unit of the train which was pulling 39 cars west to Michel, B. C. The lead diesel plunged off the tracks after hitting the trailer section of the truck and plunged over a 20 foot bank, coming to rest on its nose and right side in Corbin Creek.

The second unit of the train remained on the track and kept going for about 100 feet. The refrigerator unit of the truck was crushed onto the front of the second unit. The tractor part of the Canadian Freightways truck was undamaged. The trailer part of the large transport was cut in half by the impact and one half of the truck lay on the east ditch of the north-south tracks while the other half of the trailer was flung into pieces on the west side of the tracks. Sacks of flour comprising the load of the truck and debris was spewed almost a hundred feet in all directions. Flour was a foot deep over the rails and the diesel lying on its side in the river was covered with flour. Crews of men were kept busy for several hours shovelling the flour off of the tracks. The truck was hauling 30,000 pounds of flour from Calgary to Vancouver. Traffic was tied up for several hours.

Driver of the truck Cal Olbrag of North Surrey, B. C., claims the wig was signal at the crossing was not working. He also reports not having heard the diesel. Olbrag sustained broken fingers on his left hand. Head driver Ernest Widman of 3529 Gladstone Street, Vancouver 12, B. C. was sleeping in the sleeper section of the truck when the accident occurred. Widman was taken to Michel hospital where he was treated for neck injuries. He also had a tooth broken off.

Engineer Dave Ford of Cranbrook although soaked and cold from the icy waters of Corbin Creek escaped uninjured.

Carl Noso of Cranbrook who was the fireman on the diesel sustained a few minor lacerations to the scalp and some bruises.

All injured were treated at the Michel hospital and released.

The track at the scene of the accident runs north and south and crosses the number three highway which runs east and west. At the time of the accident the truck was proceeding west and the diesel was travelling north. The diesel had come from behind a mountain about 100 yards south of the highway.

The railway bridge crosses over Corbin Creek about 100 feet north of the highway.

Jury Rules "Accidental Death"

"Accidental death with no blame attached to anyone" was the verdict returned by a coroners jury investigating the death of Gordon Winsel, 22-year-old bush worker who was killed in a mishap on March 13. The jury under direction of Dr. Fred Russell of Blairmore comprised, foreman Eric Price, Gus Erickson, Ron Johnson, E. C. Cosack, John Ferstay of Blairmore and Joe Paulville of Bellevue.

Evidence given by attending physician Dr. Emil Alelio of Coleman indicated that death was instantaneous and that death was caused by shock, hemorrhage and internal injuries which appeared to have been caused by a sharp blow on the front of the chest and then the body being pressed against some sharp object.

Robert W. Sly who operated the bush camp at Lost Creek some 15 miles south of Blairmore explained to the jury the operations being carried out by the bush workers at the time of the accident. He said the crew comprised a caterpillar operator and two chokemen whose duty it was to attach cables to trees that were cut down so that the cat could which the trees into a pile for hauling away to the main landing where the trees were loaded onto trucks. He added that at times the caterpillar became stuck in logs and it was the duty of the chokemen to help free the machine.

George F. Dangerville, the cat operator at the time of the accident gave evidence which showed that two trees had got stuck in the starting motor of the cat. The cat became stuck and after a discussion with his two helpers it was decided to cut the trees out to free the cat rather than break them with a cable as by using the cable there was a danger of bending the cats cab. The first tree was cut by John Kramer the second chokeman and after the first was cut Mr. Winsel began cutting the second tree. Mr. Dangerville noticed that Mr. Winsel was standing on the wrong side of the tree was chopping on the outside of the bowed tree so he hurried to Winsel to get on the inside. Mr. Winsel ignored the warning and continued cutting and the tree snapped and in its course struck Mr. Winsel in the chest and carried him in its path throwing him onto the side of the cat where he became hung up on a hook on the cat. Mr. Dangerville lifted Mr. Winsel off of the cat onto the ground and tried to make him comfortable.

John Kramer the second chokeman verified the story told by Mr. Dangerville and he said that he ran to a second cat to get help as he thought Winsel was pinned between the tree and the cat.

Other cat operator, Jack George, also gave evidence similar to the first two witnesses. Corporal Murray of the RCMP Police at Blairmore who investigated the accident provided some photos of the accident scene. The three lumber workers in giving their evidence indicated that Winsel was a hard worker and a fast worker but appeared to be headstrong in his ways.

Mr. Winsel, 22 years of age was born on Biggars, Saskatchewan on March 23rd, 1937. He had worked for the Burnell Lumber Company for the past three winters and during the summer months was employed by the C.N. Railway in Saskatchewan. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Winsel of Biggars he is survived by four sisters, three brothers, Bill and Albert in Biggars and Adolph in Toronto.

Parents' Day Well Attended

Several hundred Coleman parents took Friday afternoon off last week to visit the Coleman schools, which held open house in conjunction with Education Week.

Parents visited each room of the Cameron School in West Coleman, and the elementary high school in the main school.

All were very pleased with the work displayed by the students and parents were given the opportunity to meet their children's teachers and discuss education matters.

The affair proved very successful and a tea was served by the ladies of the Home and School for the visitors.

Motor Vehicle License Plates Now On Sale

The new Alberta licence plate for 1960 features white numerals on a red background and will go on sale at 230 points throughout the province March 1st. In Coleman—Vets' Insurance and Real Estate office.

The private passenger car plates will have two letters and four digits. Officials of the Department of Highways' Motor Vehicle branch believe the two-letter four-digit system of numbering will make each plate more unique and consequently more easily identified.

At the present time there are more than 450,000 vehicles of all types registered in the province.

The fifteen classifications include all vehicles from motor scooters to public service vehicles on inter-continental transport hauls. The branch estimates more than 500,000 sets of plates will be sold.

There is no number preference in the province. Registration slips were released in the mail on February 27th.

Alberta licence plates are manufactured at Port Saskatchewan Gash near Edmonton. The program of plate production employs 25 inmates during the year.

The Volunteer Red Cross Canvasser

This month hundreds of men and women will knock on the doors of Alberta homes to request financial support for the Canadian Red Cross Society.

These Red Cross volunteers will give generously of their time to call on their neighbours in dozens of Alberta communities. They will travel over rutted, muddy and snow-covered rural roads to reach neighbours who are not within shouting distance. They will carry on this very essential work by day and by night in fair weather and foul.

These men and women assume this Red Cross chore because they know the value of the Red Cross and its many programmes and services to their community and the nation. It is their way of expressing interest and doing their share for the Canadian Red Cross Society. Some have very personal reasons and in gratitude for some kind of Red Cross assistance in the past wish to do their bit in some unsung and unheralded fashion.

The citizens of this community must do their share by welcoming the visits of these men and women to their homes and offices and by donating generously to an organization that has the support of millions of Canadians who are proud to give their money, their blood, their time and their talent. It is this kind of devotion that maintains essential Red Cross activities in this community, this province, this nation and, when there is need, far beyond our shores. This year this newspaper asks you to think when the Red Cross canvasser calls on you for your help and give as generously as you can. You will help yourself, help others and keep the Red Cross on the job.
